The Queen Victoria Memorial. Her Majesty Queen Victoria, who is represented seated, faces down the Mall, the groups on either side of her representing "Truth" and "Justice." Facing Buckingham Palace is another group symbolising "Motherhood." The upper portion of the memorial consists of figures in bronze, depicting "Victory," supported by "Courage" and "Constancy." Of course you recognise this building. The statue has been erected since you met, I think. I passed it in a taxi crossing London from one station to another. At last evening, I it showed up to perfection.
